The Eagles are in white and No. 52 is Hyink, a 6'9" junior. Jumping with him but not high enough is Howie Grimes, No. 45. No. 41 is Urband, No. 23, Jorgenson and No. 35 is Hamilton, No. 50 is Crowe and No. 44 is Heniff.

LincolnWay Drops Games To Sandburg And Peotone

BY GREGG FANT

The Lincoln-Way Knights returned to action after the holidays last Friday as they met the Eagles of Carl Sandburg on the latter's court. Then on Saturday night, they faced off against the Blue Devils of Peotone at Peotone. Both causes proved unsuccessful as the Knights fell to the Eagles, 74-49, and to the Blue Devils, 73-56.

The Knights couldn't seem to overcome early leads in both contests as Sandburg built up a 34-19 halftime lead and the Blue Devils were leading the Knights at halftime by a score of 36-18. In the Peotone game, the Knights trailed by as much as 20 points but came on late in the third to trail by as few as seven points.

Sandburg used a balanced scoring attack and good ball control to score their victory as five of their players had scored in double figures. The Eagles scored from the floor 29 times in 54 attempts for a percentage of 54%. Howard Grimes, center for the Knights, was the leading scorer in the ball game, piling up 24 points in the losing cause.

The Blue Devils, lacking in height, used fast, sure, ball

Besides the cash the thief or thieves also carried off a woman's yellow gold wrist watch, it was reported to Frankfort's police chief, Francis Simon.

Several years ago the place was burglarized and on that occasion about $200 was taken. The money stolen Jan. 1 was not insured, according to Chief Simon.

Branch Circuit Court Is Set Up At Mokena

With the new judicial amendment in force in Illinois under which appellate judges will be elected and all of the lesser courts have become a part of the circuit court system a branch of such court has been set up at Mokena.

George E. Sangmeister, of Mokena, has been appointed by the circuit court to preside over this branch which is a part of District 2, comprised of Frankfort, New Lenox, Joliet and Troy townships.

Appointed as deputy circuit clerk of the Mokena branch is Mrs. Violet Weitendorf, of Mokena.

In all there are eight magistrates now serving in Will county, the seven elected justices of the peace of which Sangmeister is one, and the police magistrate of Joliet, Martin Jackson. Jackson, incidentally, is the only elected police magistrate that has been assigned to duty in Will county under the new system. There are 22 police magistrates who still hold title but have no work to do. They will be paid, by the state, however, at the figure set by their village boards.

Under the new court system the magistrates appointed to the circuit court will have jurisdiction in civil cases up to $5,000. Anthony Mackay and Robert Burchar, originally elected JP's, will handle state traffic cases at Joliet as well as hear civil cases there. Jackson will handle Joliet city cases, and Sangmeister will handle civil cases arising in this area, as well as traffic violations that occur in the area. He also is likely to be assigned to Joliet at intervals.

His office is located in the rear of the Friant building on Wolf road. He will hold court five days a week, Monday thru Friday, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Traffic cases will be heard afternoons, with mornings given over to other hearings.

Under the new act there is a fee of $5 for costs on each case. The costs are paid in to the county as are the filing fees and jury fees in civil cases. A litigant who wishes a jury trial must pay a fee of $6 for a six-member jury, and $25 for a 12-member jury, if the amount involved does not exceed $200.

All fines collected will be turned in to the circuit clerk's office and that official will distribute them according to law or ordinances involved. For example in traffic cases where the offense is committed in a municipality and the arrest is made by a municipal officer the fine goes to the municipality; if the offense is committed in a municipality but the arresting officer is a state trooper the fine goes to the county; if on park property and the arrest is made by park police the fine goes to the park district; if the offense is on a township maintained road the fine goes to the town road and bridge fund, regardless of who makes the arrest; if state or sheriff's police make traffic arrests on county maintained roads, the fine goes to the county.

Village attorneys will be expected to prosecute cases arising from alleged violations of city ordinances if municipalities are to receive the fines that may be imposed, it was said.

Frankfort Issues Tags To Identify Local Cars

The Frankfort village board has never enacted an ordinance to license motor vehicles and does not intend to do so now, but it does have some vehicle stickers that the village will sell to any automobile owners who want them. The price is 50 cents and was imposed to cover cost of the decals and the bookkeeping.

The reason behind the stickers, it was explained, is that so many municipalities do license motor vehicles that the presence of one in a parking space without a sticker usually draws a ticket. Getting out from under such a ticket can cause loss of time and a lot of conversation. To have a sticker on the windshield identifying the car as being from Frankfort can eliminate inconvenience in other localities, it was pointed out.

The stickers may be obtained at the village hall.

The village board, which is being besought to approve plans for apartment buildings, will be represented at a conference today at the Northwestern university law school at which this question of suburban apartments is to be discussed by various authorities, pro and con. Village Attorney Albert H. Krusemark is to represent the board and Burton Bredelert and Conrad Oetter, respectively, the plan commission and zoning board of appeals.

One of the problems confronting the board now is the elimination of brush piles in the vicinity of the sewage treatment plant. The village has been dumping trees and brush there in its fight against Dutch Elm disease and householders have followed suit. Eventually all of the wood will be burned which will solve that problem but what the village is to do with the residue from the treatment plant is something else to plague officials. The residue is supposed to be fertilizer and the village is eager to give it away to anyone who will take it but there are no takers. The stuff keeps piling up. Burning may be the ultimate solution there, it was said.

And while on the subject of problems the board had another one but solved it quite easily. Last October it made a deal to have the oil burner used to heat the village hall converted to gas.

Village Clerk Walter Pfaff told the board last night that so far he had been unable to get any work done on the job although he had had a lot of promises.

Cancel the deal, the board decided, and Pfaff has. Come spring and the board hopes to find someone to do the job.

Some 200 persons were present at the dedication of the skating rink in Community park at Frankfort Monday night and remained to watch the burning of the Christmas trees, an annual event on Twelfth Night.

The park rink was built by the Frankfort Lions club and in the spring will be transformed into a combination tennis and basketball court which in turn will be converted into a skating surface next winter.

There were no formal talks nor any formal program connected with the dedication. The Lions club has gone on record, however, in thanking the Frankfort village board for its essential contribution to the project. The village board ran a waterline to the rink so it can be flooded when necessary to make ice.

The burning of Christmas trees took place at Mokena on Sunday. The event, which takes place in Mokena Community park, is also directed by the Lions club there.

Boy Scouts in both communities assisted in gathering the trees and the fire departments provided details to see that the blazes did not get out of control. Several hundred trees were burned, thus solving a problem for homeowners who otherwise would have had the job to do themselves.

Paul V. Wunder, Clerk Of Appellate Court, Dies

Paul V. Wunder, of Joliet, a prominent figure in County and State politics for many years, died suddenly Tuesday, Jan. 7 at Springfield where he was attending a conference dealing with terms of the new state judicial system that became effective Jan. 1. He was found dead in bed in the State House motel by Robert Greenaway, of DeKalb, who was sharing the room with him. Apparently Mr. Wunder was the victim of heart failure or a stroke.

Wunder, a Republican, served Will county as circuit clerk for 16 years, from 1940 to 1956, at which time he was elected clerk of the appellate court of the second district with headquarters at Ottawa. He was reelected in 1962, carrying 31 of the 32 counties which then comprised the second district. Under the new judicial amendment the appellate court districts are being reorganized.

Mr. Wunder directed the campaigns of the Republican judges in the 12th circuit on several occasions and also has organized campaigns for supreme court justices.

As a past president of the Illinois County Officials Association and a past president of Circuit Clerks and Records, plus his activity in several state campaigns he was widely acquainted.

That Wunder was proficient in politics is understandable when considering his background. He was brought up on politics. His maternal grandfather, Louis H. Mottinger, of Plainfield, was sheriff of Will county from 1898 to 1902 and his father, also Paul, was circuit clerk from 1920 to 1936.

Paul Sr. had been active in politics for many years before his election so when other boys were hearing about Jack and the Beanstalk, Buffalo Bill, the Knights of the Round Table and the battling averages of notable major leaguers Paul Jr. was also learning how this precinct was set up, how many votes could be had from that precinct, what one might expect in the north end and the south end of Joliet, and in the east side and west side districts as well as how to get the vote out in the country--regardless of weather or the state of crops. And the man retained many of the things heard as a boy that stood him in good stead when he entered politics.

Besides his wife, the former Leona Busch, Mr. Wunder is survived by two daughters, Paula, 12, and Marcia, 9; his mother, Mrs. Jessie Wunder, of Plainfield, and a brother, Richard, a road contractor, also of Plainfield.

Removal was to the Carlson funeral home, Benton and Youngs ave., Joliet, where friends may call this afternoon and evening. Funeral services will be held Friday but at the time this paper went to press details of the arrangements were lacking.

Blood Seeks Reelection As Will County Coroner

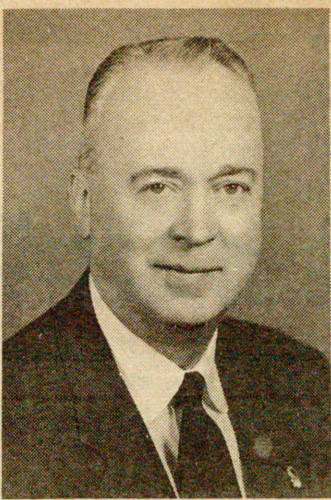

Willard G. Blood, coroner of Will county, is a candidate for reelection in the Republican primary April 14, running on his record, training and experience.

A native of Joliet he has always been a resident of that community. Today, Jan. 9, is his 58th birthday.

Mr. Blood is a veteran of World War II, having entered service as a private in 1941 and earning a commission in 1942 in the Medical Service Corps. In all he served five years, two of them overseas, and retired as a major, MSC U. S. Reserves in 1957.

He is now a member of the Will County Chapter, Reserve Officers Association; Old Timers Baseball Association; immediate past president of the Joliet Lions club; first vice president of the Joliet Shrine club; member of the board of the Salvation Army; member of the Loyal Order of Moose, Eagles, Harwood post No. 5, American Legion, Castigny post, No. 367, V.F.W. He is past president of the Illinois Coroners Association. Mr. Blood is a member of Christ Episcopal church.

In pointing to his experience in the office Mr. Blood called attention to the fact that he has served as coroner for 15 years and prior to that had been a deputy coroner for nine years. In his operation of the office he has appointed deputies in all parts of the county in order to give immediate service when his office is needed.

"In my tenure of office," Blood said, "I have deemed myself a public servant and have placed service to the public foremost. The office of coroner is established in the courthouse and its operation has been fully integrated with all law enforcing agencies. Operational costs have been kept at a minimum.

"In any of my campaigns for office I have never made use

N. J. Fornango, Veteran Police Official, Dies

Nicholas J. Fornango, 75, of Joliet, chief investigator for State's Attorney Frank H. Masters for the past 11 years, died last Sunday (Jan. 5) in St. Joseph hospital at Joliet where he had been a patient for seven weeks.

He was born in Coal City but had lived most of his life in Joliet.

Fornango was dedicated to police work. He started as a patrolman on the Joliet department and rose thru the ranks to chief. He was on the department 28 years, 12 of them as chief before he retired in 1943. He joined the state's attorney's staff Dec. 1, 1952. He also served as a staff deputy sheriff for three years.

Chief Fornango was a good policeman and solved a number of difficult cases thru his skill as an investigator and interrogator. Some cases brought him into some tight spots.

One such occasion came about in the course of an investigation of a murder case. That was when Nick was a detective and it was largely thru his efforts that the killer was arrested and brought to trial.

of posters on utility poles and other locations and do not intend to do so now. In addition to being unsightly they are a distraction to motorists.

"Traffic safety is one of my main interests. The outgrowth of a so-called coroner's blue ribbon jury is now a strong community organization known as Will County Community Action for Traffic Safety.

"It has been an honor to serve as your coroner and, if elected, I pledge continuous courteous and efficient service."

The late Robert W. Martin was state's attorney at the time and Fornango aided him in the gathering of evidence. This was not fun and games by any means, when one considers that the defendant apparently had connection with a group noted for fast action with knife or gun to avenge a member.

When the trial was about to begin Martin sought out the counsel for defense, a Chicago attorney. Martin told that if the case proceeded to trial he could ask for the death penalty and he felt sure he would get a conviction.

However, if the defendant would plead guilty and throw himself on the mercy of the court he, Martin, would recommend life imprisonment and he believed the court would follow his recommendation. Martin suggested to the attorney that he acquaint the defendant with the proposal. A short time later counsel for defense refused Martin's offer and the trial proceeded to the end predicted by the state's attorney.

Fornango knew nothing of Martin's proposal until later, when the case was over and did not know until then that his offer had not been transmitted to the defendant. It was too late then. The man had been found guilty, sentenced to the gallows and in due time executed.

Then one day a message reached Fornango. A group of men from other communities arrived in Joliet and sent word to Fornango to meet with them at a certain house to answer questions, the principal one being why he did not apprise the defendant of an opportunity to plead guilty and save his neck.

With a companion Nick went to the house. There were about eight men seated on the sides of the room, all strangers.

"I had two loaded pistols in my coat pockets," the Chief recalled years later, "and my companion had two pistols in his coat pockets. I told him to keep his fingers on the triggers. If any of them make a move, I told him, cut loose. They may take us but we will have some of them for company."

"I told those men the facts. They heard me thru and then asked some questions, I answered those. I was telling them the truth and they must have sensed it because they thanked me for coming and said we could go. We did. We backed out and got away from there."

Chief Fornango is survived by two sons, Dr. Vincent N. Fornango, a Joliet dentist, and Bernard J., of Homewood, a brother, John, and three sisters, Mrs. Peter DePhillippi, Mrs. James Rosenberg, and Mrs. John Lisdoro, all of Joliet; also seven grandchildren. His wife, the former Josephine Carnaghi, died 10 years ago.

Funeral services were conducted yesterday from St. Anthony's church in Joliet with burial in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

FRED W. OKIE is the new president of the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern Railway, succeeding Thomas D. Beven, who retired Dec. 31. Mr. Okie will continue to make his headquarters at Pittsburgh. He is president of the Bessener and Lake Erie railroad at Pittsburgh. In 1946 he became president of the Union railroad at Pittsburgh and since 1961 has been president of the Lake Terminal railroad. He served in various capacities with the Southern railway and served overseas as commander of the 727th Railway operating battalion in WW II.

Issue 1st Traffic Tickets In Area Under New System

The first traffic ticket handed out in the area since the new court system came into being Jan. 1 was issued by Frankfort Police Chief Francis Simon on Friday afternoon, Jan. 3 on a speeding charge. The recipient was the Rev. Dom E. Wright, of Crown Point, Ind.

According to Simon, Wright was traveling 63 miles an hour, according to radar, in a 50 mph zone. The arrest was made at U.S. 30 and Locust, in Frankfort.

The Rev. Mr. Wright posted a $25 bond in the magistrate court at Mokena and was released. Hearing is scheduled for Jan. 15. The magistrate court, a branch of the circuit court, for the Frankfort, Mokena and New Lenox area is presided over by George E. Sangmeister, an elected justice of the peace.

Under the schedule of fines adopted by the state court system traveling 13 miles over the limit would draw a penalty of $13 plus $5 costs. Speeding fines for up to 10 miles an hour over the limit will be $10. From 10 to 15 miles over the limit the fine is a dollar a mile. Over 15 miles the magistrate can impose any fine up to $100 depending upon the circumstances.

Over the week-end Chief Simon issued six other tickets charging speeding and one for alleged stop sign violation. The stop sign ticket, issued to Walter Watchinski, of Morris, is to be heard Jan. 20. This motorist deposited his driver's license to insure his appearance, as did Robert DeNormandie, of Chicago, who was charged with speeding. The other drivers, all of whom posted bonds of $25 each, were Howard Lee, Harvey; Adda Larsen, Mansfield, O.; Lloyd Corwin, Nappanee, Ind.; Henry McArdle, N. Hollywood, Calif.; Larry Nelson, Fort Hood, Tex. and Rudolph Farenti, of Oglesby. Police Chief George Kennedy issued a speed ticket to Paul Rossman, Shelby, O.

Lehmann added that trained personnel will be on hand in all immigration offices to answer any questions the reporting alien may have regarding immigration and naturalization matters.

Lincoln Highway Teachers Have Xmas Luncheon

The December meeting and annual Christmas luncheon of the Lincoln Highway Rural Teachers took place at Brun's Restaurant in New Lenox Friday, Dec. 27. After the luncheon a short business meeting followed. Members were interested in learning the disposition of their usual gift exchange money to the lonely and needy at old folk's home and to Trinity school. Christmas bingo and other fun ensued and white elephant prizes were given to everyone. The next meeting of this group will be held in February.

The Working Classes

J. A. Ward

Now that the holiday season is past many of you will be changing jobs, either by choice or request. Regardless of the circumstances that bring about these changes, there are certain procedures that all of you should follow.

Make every effort to secure a letter of reference from your employer. Then make extra copies of this letter to leave with your application for future employment.

The next step is to make up a resume of yourself. This resume should not be more than two pages in length and should be set up as follows.

(Part one) Date - Your full name - Address & Phone - Age - Marital Status, number & ages of children - Religion.

(Part two) Your education - grades school through college - Indicate scholastic standings and any night or correspondence courses that you have taken.

(Part three) List your work experiences, starting with your last job first, like this example: From June '61 to Dec. '63 - name of company. Explain nature of work, machines operated, salary, reason for leaving and name of supervisor. Follow this same pattern on every job you have had since entering the business field.

(Part four) List at least four personal references. In each case try to list, your Banker, Lawyer, Minister, Doctor or other businessmen that are among your personal acquaintances. You should also notify these people that you are giving their names as personal references.

(Part five) If you have served in the armed forces or are subject to draft, indicate branch of service time served and rank. If subject to draft list draft status.

Now that you have the above ammunition in your portfolio, I suggest you read and reread my article that recently appeared in this column on "How to put your best foot forward on a job interview".

A copy of this article can be secured by writing, Graphic Newspapers, 200 Main Street, Lemont, Illinois.

COAL BY WIRE: Commonwealth Edison Company will build a huge mine-mouth power station in the central Illinois coal district with the electricity to be carried 175 miles to the Chicago area over two extra-high-voltage transmission lines. Drawing shows how station will get its condensing water from a 2,700-acre man-made reservoir. The site is near Kincaid, 15 miles southeast of Springfield.

Former Mokenan Tells Of Life And Times In Japan

In a letter to Mokena friends, received during the holidays, Mrs. George Rumbley, formerly of Mokena and active in various groups there, presents a vivid word picture of Japan. Mrs. Rumbley's husband, Major Rumbley, is an army chaplain who was sent to Japan when regular troops were withdrawn from the Orland Park Nike base last summer. Major Rumbley was at the Nike installation three years. He was active in the Mokena Lions club.

Mrs. Rumbley's letter reads in part as follows:

"The Japanese shops and big department stores celebrate Christmas; at least the Ginza (Tokyo's State st.) is gaily decorated, and the stores are full of gifts and elaborate decorations. Less than one per cent of the Japanese are Christians despite the years of missionary effort expended here, but that doesn't deter the merchants, and, after all, I guess our commercialized Christmas is not very Christian!

"The really big time here for the Japanese is New Year's. It seems that everybody who can, takes a whole week off from work and celebrates. Their way of celebrating is not too different from that of many Americans - with the bottle, but in this case, the sake bottle. However, it is supposed to be a time for visiting all relatives not seen since last New Year's, and renewing family ties.

"The Japanese people are caught in a twisted era of the ancient customs and modern technological achievement. They have tried to come so far so fast since the war that some aspects of life couldn't keep up. Most of the people one sees on the street are dressed in American - type clothing, but there is still a heavy sprinkling of kimono - clad mama-sans carrying babies on their backs and wearing zori-those little things that you can buy in the drugstore. Many workers - most, I'd say, wear geta - wooden clogs which keep their feet out of mud.

"At present in this suburban Tokyo area most of the streets are in process of repair or reconstruction, and new streets are being built to accommodate the tremendous influx of foreign visitors Tokyo expects next summer for the Olympics. The Japanese desperately want to present a good appearance to the world - the old oriental idea of "face".

"We have not been able to get away yet to see something besides our own not-too-appealing area and the American bases where we live and work, but we do hope to, maybe right after Christmas. We can see Mt. Fuji here in our housing area on clear days, and we have a freak camellia blooming in the front yard, but except for one trip to downtown Tokyo, I have not seen anything really breathtaking. Tokyo is overwhelming the Japanese Dist. Bldg., the Imperial Palace, surrounded by a moat - many things are truly amazing.

"George has been into Tokyo to the Hilton to two meetings of the only English - speaking Lions Club in Japan. Most of the members are Japanese who speak very good English. I think he is disappointed in them because they don't sell fruit cakes. Good news that the fruit cakes sold so well. The fruit cakes have become a tradition with many people, and as such there is always an assured market for many cakes.

"We will have a normal American Christmas so far as we can, and will have a few other lonely army people - soldiers and one young couple - in to share our turkey. We really miss not being able to go to Kentucky this year."

NIU Offers Two Courses At Joliet

Reading and coaching will be covered in two Northern Illinois university extension courses to begin at Joliet in February.

Dr. Richard W. Burnett, assistant professor of education, will teach Diagnosis and Treatment of Reading Difficulties (Educ. 406), beginning Wednesday, Feb. 5. Dr. Robert J. Brigham, assistant professor of physical education, will instruct Psychology of Coaching (Phy. Ed. 511), beginning Tuesday, Feb. 4.

Both courses begin at 6:30 p.m. in Room 253 of Joliet township high school. Each offers three semester hours of graduate credit. The reading course also may be taken for undergraduate credit.

Current reading tests will be discussed, plus causes and correction of reading difficulties, in Burnett's course. Brigham will guide his class in applying psychological principles to learning in competitive sports.

Prospective NIU extension students should address their application inquiries to Dr. Joseph Clettenberg, director of extension, Northern Illinois University, DeKalb. These inquiries should state whether the student ever attended NIU and whether the student was a graduate or undergraduate at Northern. Proper registration forms then will be sent by the extension office.

Fees for NIU extension courses are $9 per semester hour for Illinois residents. Separate checks for each student for each course should be made out to Northern Illinois University.

List Contracts For Work On FAI-80 In Cook County

(CNS) Sixteen contracts for paving, grade separation, signing, and lighting of the Moline expressway, Interstate 80, in southern Cook county, were listed in the 1964 improvement program of the Illinois highway department, announced last week. Total estimated cost was placed at $6,970,000.

This compared with a proposed $7,703,000 to be spent by the state on the Southwest expressway (Interstate 55) and $5,837,000 on the West Leg, South expressway (Interstate 57), and $1,155,000 on Kingery-Calumet.

Cook county plans to spend $46,389,000 on the Southwest, and $3,884,000 on the West Leg, while the city of Chicago plans $36,307,000 on the Southwest for a total on that major project of $90,399,000.

The Moline expressway items listed by the state are as follows:

Grading and paving: Ridge-land to Central, $512,000; Central to Cicero, $638,000; Cicero to Kedzie, $1,418,000; Kedzie to Tri-State tollway, $1,408,000.

List Donors Of Funds To Thoms Family, Fire Victims

The Robert Thoms family, which was burned out of its home on 191st st., east of Mokena the Friday before Christmas, have a new farm residence now, near 80th ave. and 168th st., in the Tinley Park area.

They had been occupying a house in Lincoln Estates which was made available to them the day of the fire but it was taken on a temporary basis, the Thoms stating that they would like to rent a farm home with enough ground for a garden. Mr. Thoms works in a brickyard at Blue Island.

A committee made up of representatives of the Mokena Chamber of Commerce, the Mokena Lions club and Pomar Land Trust collected clothing, house furnishings and money for the stricken family. Thanks to generosity by the public the Thoms are well situated in comparison with their plight. Some six hundred dollars has been contributed to the family. Pupils of St. Mary's school in a spur-of-the-moment collection took up more than $25 to aid the family.

Other cash donors listed at the office of the Chamber of Commerce are: Mokena Lions, Fred Lehmann, M. Denflp, Lawrence Kohl, Janet McGivern, Marcella Lehmann, John Chisholm, Welsch Lumber Co., Earl Einhorn, Maurice Angland, Jim Marti, Robert Matteo, Robert Jackson, Larry Istel, Some Children, Mokena Pharmacy, Willis Wollenzien, Royal Neighbors, Walter Welsch, Mrs. Olive Williams, children of Mr. and Mrs. Mullen, Carl Shanks, George Carlisle, Soc White's cafe, Elias Brown, Class of '66 and Class of '65, Lincoln-Way high, Pomar Land Trust, Glenn Hensel; Glenn Hensel Agency, John and Mary Schuster, Carl Hanson Decorating Co., James and Loretta Conroy, and Guy Wilson, of Joliet; Debra Costable and Mr. and Mrs. William Sterling, of Lockport; Arbury Hills school carol singers, J. A. Bazik and several anonymous givers.

Some money, about $70, was given to Harry Yaker in behalf of the family and this was turned over to the Thoms.

Board Gets Two Lakes And $35,000 Cash

(CNS) - Instead of paying $500,000 for the digging of two lakes in the Arle Crown Forest Preserve, the County will receive $35,000, Forest Preserve Superintendent Charles G. Sauers said Friday.

The gimmick, according to Sauers, is that the contractor wants the earth, and in exchange is willing to foot the bills for the digging, including installation of piers and other accessories.

The contractor is Rossi Contractors, located at 1825 S. Kostner, Chicago.

Sauers said that he hoped future lakes could be created by the same method, at a profit to the taxpayers.

The two new lakes will be located south of La Grange, in the north east corner of the Arle Crown Forest Preserve.

Forest Preserve Opens 8 Lakes For Ice Fishing

Eight forest preserve lakes have been opened to ice fishing this winter. The announcement was made by Seymour Simon, president of the board of Forest Preserve Commissioners, and he stated that "there is a greater interest in ice fishing in recent years than ever before. It was with this in mind that the lakes are being opened to this popular winter sport."

"The location of the lakes thruout the county is such that everyone will have good opportunity to reach one or more fishing sites with just a short distance of travel. All of them have been stocked with largemouth bass and bluegills for several years and are now ready for public fishing."

Simon warned that there is always need for caution when ice fishing. This is particularly true when good catches are being made and the fishermen have a tendency to crowd into a small area where there is exceptional fishing. Such overcrowding can be dangerous, particularly toward spring when there has been thaws and the ice has been weakened. The most productive and most favorable of the ice fishing sites, the west end of Saganashkee Slough, is open again this year.

Listed below are the forest preserve lakes and locations now open to ice fishing:

Belly Deep Slough, on route 45, 1/2 mile south of 95th st. Big Bend Lake, southwest corner of Golf and Bender roads.

McGinnis Slough, (east end only), west of Route 45, north of Southwest highway.

Papoose Lake, south side of McCarthy Rd. (123rd St.) 1/4 mile west of Route 45.

Bullfrog Lake, two miles southwest of Willow Springs, 1/2 mile south of 95th st., 1/4 mile west of Wolf road.

Wampum Lake, one mile east of Thornton, north of Thornton-Lansing road.

Joe's Pond, Willow Springs road, one mile south of 95th st. Saganashkee Slough, southwest corner of 107th st. and Willow Springs road.

Living Costs Decline In November

(CNS) Due largely to another drop in food prices, the Chicago consumer price index dropped during November to its lowest point since June, the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported this week. The overall index, based on 1957-59 prices, was 105.5, down from 105.7 in October, 105.6 in September, 105.7 in August, and 106.0 in July, June was 105.2.

Foods registered 105.4, from 105.8 in October, 106.1 in September and 107.6 in August, the all-time high. All categories of food dropped except fruits and vegetables, seasonally up to 106.6 from 104.1 in October, the low following a high of 118.4 in July.

Meats, poultry, and fish were low, at 100.7, from 102.9 in October, and high of 105.1 in August, and a low of 99.1 in April.

Compared with November, 1962, however, the overall index was up 0.5 pct., resulting from increases of 1.2 pct., in housing, 2.1 in medical care, apparel, 0.1 pct., and personal care, 0.4 pct. During the year, food prices dropped 0.3 pct., transportation, 0.6, and reading and recreation, 0.9 pct.

HARD HITTING SPEECH -- William G. "Bill" Barr made a hard-hitting political speech to some 500 Republican leaders in Will County Monday night. Barr will hold a series of similar meetings in DuPage County during the month of January. In his speech, Barr emphasized that he was the one candidate who was going to wage his campaign on issues and ideals. He seeks the Republican nomination to Congress from the 14th Congressional District.
